

The Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Concordia University, and Women Living Under Muslim Laws (WLUML) present

The Veiling and Unveiling Lecture Series

NARRATIVES OF UNVEILING IN MOROCCO: NEGOTIATING SELF AND IDENTITY FORMATION

Presenter: Meriem El Haitami

Moderator & Discussant: Dr. Homa Hoodfar

Meriem El Haitami is a Professor of Gender Studies at Ibn Tofail University, Morocco. Her research explores the interactions between state and new social and religious reconfigurations in post-2003 Morocco, with a particular focus on the role of women in state religious policy and gender reforms. Her most recent research explores the surge of new spiritualities in Morocco and the role of women in shaping new expressions of female and gender subjectivity beyond institutional Islam. El Haitami is a recipient of a number of visiting fellowships, including her position as a visiting professor at Columbia University (2021-2022) and Yale University (2015-2016).

TIME

12 PM-1:30 PM (EST)

DATE

April 18, 2024 | Thursday

Scan the QR code to register or click here.
After registering, you will receive a confirmation email containing information about joining the webinar.

